PROBABLE CAUSE STATEMENT

On 10/17/07, at approximately 3:25 a.m., Border Patrol Agent R. Stallings was performing linewatch duties in an area known as the Watermelon Trail. This area is approximately three miles west of the San Ysidro, California, Port-of-Entry, and is north of the U.S./Mexico International border. As Agent Stallings was driving westbound on Monument Road, Border Patrol dispatch alerted field agents of three suspected aliens moving north near the Watermelon Trail. The West Scope operator advised Agents Stallings and J. Hernandez that he had observed the group. Upon arriving in the area, the Agents reached a clearing up the trail and decided to wait for to see if they could hear any brush breaking. After approximately 15 minutes, the Agents heard brush break just south-west of their location. The Agents approached the three suspected aliens and identified themselves as Border Patrol Agents and then questioned them regarding their citizenship. All three individuals admitted to being undocumented Mexican nationals illegally present in the United States. Agents Stallings and Hernandez arrested the individuals, including one later identified as the defendant Jose Manuel OROZCO-Arellano. The subjects were then transported to the Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station for processing.

Routine record checks of the defendant revealed a criminal and immigration history. The defendant's record was determined by a comparison of his criminal record and the defendant's current fingerprint card. Official immigration records of the Department of Homeland Security revealed the defendant was previously deported to Mexico on August 20, 2007 through Calexico, California. These same records show that the defendant has not applied for permission from the Attorney General of the United States or his designated successor, the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security, to return to the United States after being removed.

The defendant was advised of his Miranda rights. The defendant stated he understood his rights and was willing to answer questions without the presence of an attorney. The defendant stated that he is a Mexican national with no immigration documents allowing him to be in or enter the United States legally.
